

TRIUMPHAL

Return of King Quite Different From Departure.

Peter, the New Ruler of Servia, is Now at Belgrade.

Noticeable Feature of Reception Was Absence of Many Representatives of Other Countries --City in Festival Spirits.

Washington, June 24—(Bulletin)—United States Minister Jackson has left Belgrade, the Servian capital, pursuant to instructions sent him several days ago. They were to the effect that he was to take no action that would render him conspicuous, but that if the diplomatic corps generally decided to sever connections there, he was to do the same thing. The Russian and Austrian ministers were the only ones who greeted King Peter today.

KING'S RECEPTION TODAY.

Belgrade, June 24—After years of exile a Kara-Georgevitch is again king of Servia.

King Peter I. arrived in Belgrade this morning and was greeted with all the acclaim a mercurial populace can render a new ruler. His majesty arrived at Semlin, on the Hungarian frontier at 10:30 and was met there and welcomed by the members of the cabinet, the city authorities, the high officials of the provisional government, a guard of honor, the presidents of the various tribunals and most of the diplomatic representatives in Belgrade. The government officials after going through the old eastern custom of handing the king bread and salt, started for the city amid a wild scene of enthusiasm.

Far different from his departure from Servia was the new king's triumphal return. He left in disgrace, an exile from his native land; he returned the choice of the people, the object of their love and reverence. His departure was in silence and secret. His return was with the blare of trumpets, the playing of bands and the cheers of the multitudes.

The city was in festival spirits. An enthusiastic crowd of over 100,000 persons filled the streets and the king's drive from the station to the palace was one continuous ovation. A pretty incident was the presenting of flowers to his majesty. All along the route school girls had stationed themselves and as the king drove by they almost buried him in fragrant bouquets. Festivities of all kinds have been arranged for the rest of the week, beginning with an immense torchlight procession tonight. His majesty will take the oath of office as king before the skuptschina tomorrow. The first foreign representative to be presented to the new king was the Russian ambassador, who was presented by the premier. The Russian then presented his Austrian colleague.

A noticeable feature of the reception to the king at the palace was the absence of many of the diplomatic representatives. The Dutch, Turkish, English and French ministers left the city entirely, while the German and Italian representatives kept away from the ceremony. The absence of the Italian minister has caused considerable comment as it was generally supposed that the Italian government was most friendly toward the new sovereign.

REASON

Was Restored to Peats from Shock Incident to the Burning of His Little Daughter.

Greenwich, Conn., June 24—The heroic efforts of Mrs. Alfred J. Peats to save her child and invalid husband from the fire which destroyed their summer home near here, were unsuccessful so far as her 18 year old daughter Allavieve was concerned, for the child died as a result of the burns received. Fate makes compensations some times, however, for the excitement of the fire and rescue has restored Mr. Peat's mind, which had given away under the stress of business, and while Mrs. Peats loses her child she regains her husband.

Miss Henrietta Pugh, a sister of Mrs. Peats, was very badly burned and is today confined to her bed.

Mrs. Peats, painfully burned while rescuing her daughter, is so broken with grief that the constant care of a physician is necessary.

GALLOWES

Cheated by Negro Murderer Who Took Poison—The Case Was Carried to Supreme Court.

Columbus, S. C., June 24—John Brownfield, a negro barber under sentence of death in Georgetown, S. C., cheated the gallows by committing suicide. He took poison.

Brownfield was to have been hanged on Friday noon in the jail yard, and every preparation had been made for the execution. The negro murdered a white constable named Scurrie, who attempted to collect a delinquent tax execution.

The case was taken to the United States Supreme Court on the ground that there were no negroes on the jury. The Court refused to sustain the appeal and the negro was sentenced to be hanged. He had declared himself the victim of Caucasian prejudice, and his negro friends furnished the poison which ended his life.

Conscience Stricken.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24—Circuit Attorney Folk received a letter from a former State Senator, whose term expired in January, that he would be here Thursday and confess his misdeeds while a member of the upper branch of the Missouri General Assembly. In his letter he stated that his conscience had been hurting him, and that he could not stand the strain any longer.

Mr. Folk refused to give out the man's name. To do so he said would subject the repentant official to every sort of pressure from his confederates in hoodling, if he had any. From Mr. Folk's statement it is deduced that the former Senator lives outside of St. Louis, though he would not say so positively.

TROOPS CALLED

To Restore Order in City of Richmond, Va.

Riotous Scenes Enacted by The Street Car Strikers.

Thousand Soldiers Are Today in Charge of the City --Women And Children Joined in the Disturbances--Cars Running Today.

Norfolk, Va., June 24—(Bulletin)—One thousand soldiers are in charge of the city of Richmond, Va., today to stop the rioting and destruction of property by lawless mobs resulting from the great street car strike now on in that city. Troops that went on duty last night were reinforced today by other companies from different parts of the state and Richmond is now practically under military rule for the first time since the days of the Civil war. A large number of cars are running with heavy military guards and much of the disorder previous to the appearance of the troops has ceased.

Richmond, Va., June 24—Alter a day in which the mob ruled absolutely, the Governor, on solicitation of the Mayor, last evening issued a call for a regiment of soldiers to protect the property of the Richmond Passenger and Power company, whose employees have been on strike for a week. The company is endeavoring to run its cars with non-union men. All the local troops, consisting of five companies at once got under arms and through the night kept the people from assembling on corners.

The Alexandria and Fredericksburg companies reached here last night and today 1000 men are assembled.

The authorities are determined to crush the riot at once.

Howling mobs, in which were many women, surrounded the cars at various points, throwing bricks, stones and refuse. The police were powerless to cope with the crowds. Indeed, it is said some of them are in sympathy with the strikers.

The signal for the outbreak was the attempt to open a line upon which cars have not been operated for several days. The first car was promptly derailed and paving stones flew in volleys, badly injuring several of the crew and guards.

Mayor Taylor, who is a candidate for reelection, was summoned to the scene. He made a short address to the mob, in which he said: "I am with you, boys, and have been from the start. You see me walking every day and I will continue to do so until this strike is over."

The mayor then requested the mob to disperse and ordered the motorman to start the car. The motorman obeyed and was knocked almost senseless by a huge stone. He drew his revolver to resist the assault and was arrested by a policeman for carrying concealed weapons.

Through a storm of missiles thrown regardless of the mayor the non-union men made their way with the car into the barn of the company, where they were besieged for hours by men armed with sticks and stones. Rendered desperate by hunger, they threw open the doors of the barn, turned on the current in full and dashed madly through the midst of the mob. Not a window remained in the car, and nearly all of its occupants were cut and bruised by rocks, but they finally escaped.

After that episode all of the cars were returned to their sheds, the company, deciding to await the arrival of the military.

Along the streets, the men operating the cars were forced to run the gauntlet of rocks and decayed vegetables, while vile names were applied to them. Children of both races obstructed the tracks while their parents countenanced the action and joined them in jeering the non-union men.

The management of the company declares that under no circumstances will the demands of the men be granted. The men say they will stand firm.

believing that Frank Jay Gould is able to increase their wages.

MINERS QUIT.

Coshocton, O., June 24—One hundred men have quit work at the Cassingham mine, causing the mines to be shut down. The cause, as stated by State President Haskins, who is here, is that a driver was discharged because he took the place of a check weighman who was off duty to collect subscriptions for a disabled man. The miners insist upon the driver's reinstatement.

COAST LINEMEN QUIT.

San Francisco, June 24—Over 1,500 electrical linemen in the employ of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company went on a strike. All the linemen in California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona quit work to enforce the adoption of an increased wage scale. The strike order was issued by Electrical Workers' Union No. 151, which held a special meeting last night and resolved to take summary action against the company. About 200 men quit work in this city.

GUNS OF POLICE

Hold Mob Back—Determined Stand of Authorities Awed Crowd That Would Lynch a Negro in Illinois.

Peoria, Ill., June 24—Detective Wm. E. Murphy was killed by "Billy" McRay, a negro desperado, whom he was attempting to arrest at the corner of Water and Eaton streets, about 10 o'clock last night. Murphy, armed with a warrant for McRay on the charge of burglary approached the negro, who was standing on the corner, and informed him that he was under arrest. Without a moment's warning McRay drew a revolver and shot the officer in the breast. He then attempted to make his escape, but was caught by Detective Chadwick.

Murphy was taken to hospital, where he died in 20 minutes of the time he received his wound. McRay was hurried to the City Jail and in less than an hour a mob numbering at least 1,000 men and boys had assembled and made a demand on the chief of police for the prisoner. The chief refused to surrender the murderer.

In hope of attracting the attention of the mob, the fire department was called out and made a run past the jail.

The ruse practically succeeded, a large number of the crowd following the fire department. In the meantime the chief had ordered all the electric lights in the city to be turned out, and in the darkness McRay was taken hurriedly to the county jail. In a short time the mob discovered that it had been deceived and formed in front of the county jail. The entire police force of the city was called out in order to guard the jail.

At 11:30 the jail was surrounded and rumors were current that at the lower end of the city, where the dead officer resided, another mob had gathered with the intention of lynching the negro.

Shortly before 1 o'clock a. m. the mob surrounding the county jail began to disperse, awed by the determination of Sheriff Potter, who stationed a dozen deputies and police in front of the jail armed with revolvers and Winchester. They were instructed to fire on the mob should any attempt to enter the jail. Inside the building 20 police were stationed.

ANOTHER NEGRO LYNCHED.

Charles Jones Was Captured by Mob This Morning at Elk Valley, Tenn.---Prospect of Another Lynching Near East St. Louis--Sentiment of People Remains With Mob That Burned Negro in Delaware on Monday Night.

Elk Valley, Tenn., June 24—Charles Jones, a negro who was accused of criminally assaulting Margaret Bruce, 16, near here yesterday, was captured by a mob at daylight this morning and lynched. He confessed and was identified by the young woman. Miss Bruce is a member of a prominent family and the mob had been searching for the negro ever since the crime was committed.

PROSPECT OF LYNCHING.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24—Florence Bruno, the 17 year old white girl, who was assaulted by an unknown negro Tuesday afternoon at her home near East St. Louis, died of her injuries this morning. Annie Green the colored girl, living a mile from the Bruno home, who was attacked by the same man is in a precarious condition.

Six suspects are under arrest. There is great excitement among the farmers of the neighborhood and prospects for a lynching are good.

HARRELL STILL AT LARGE.

Peru, Ind., June 24—Willard Harrell, the ex-convict and desperado, who terrorized Bunker Hill and vicinity on Monday night by shooting at everybody in sight, is still at large. A posse which was in pursuit, returned last night tired out, without even a glimpse at Harrell. It is reported that the desperado is hiding in a big woods in Cass county, but the officials believe that he has left the state. He bade his family farewell Monday night hurriedly and disappeared. Harrell is known to be heavily armed.

SENTIMENT WITH MOB.

Wilmington, Delaware, June 24—If the state officials have their way ring-leaders of the mob which took law into its hands, stormed the workhouse and dragged George White, the negro slayer of pretty Helen Bishop to a stake, will face a trial for murder. Public sentiment here remains with the mob, but the better class of citizens are beginning to realize that Monday night's outrage has left a blot on the fair name of the state that it will be difficult to remove.

THE DELAWARE LYNCHING.

Wilmington, June 24—While less than 36 short hours ago this city was in the throes of the greatest excitement incidental to the lynching of Geo. White, the negro a peaceful calm has settled among the people who viewed, unwillingly some of them, the gruesome tragedy.

Revenge, swift and terrible, was meted out to the brute who attacked Helen S. Bishop, 17 year old daughter of Rev. E. A. Bishop, and who gave her life in defending her honor.

Public sentiment appears to deplore the resort of mob violence, but the consensus of opinion is that summary vengeance alone could atone for the outrage upon the life and honor of the young girl.

It is generally believed that had the courts brought the murderer to speedy trial the awful tragedy would have been averted.

The judges who had postponed action upon the case of the confessed assailant of Miss Bishop now explain their action by stating that popular prejudice and inclination would have precluded the possibility of a fair trial.

Colonel James McComb, a wealthy retired capitalist of Claymont, near here, called on the police authorities yesterday and told them he would go bail for all persons arrested in connection with the lynching.

Attorney General Ward now says that he expected several arrests, that there were 12 leaders in the mob and that they would be arrested as soon as the police could locate them.

One arrest was made yesterday by State Detective Francis. The prisoner's name was not divulged by the police, but it is said he is charged with having been a party to the lynching.

During the show of resistance made by the police and the jail officials when the mob attacked the Newcastle county workhouse, Peter Smith, a twelve year old boy, was shot in the back. Smith's condition is critical and he is not expected to live.

Rev. Robert A. Elwood, pastor of the Olivet Presbyterian church preached a sensational sermon on the probable lynching of White last Sunday evening. He took his text from Corinthians v, 12: "therefore put away from among ourselves that wicked person."

In referring to a speedy trial for the negro, Rev. Elwood said: "And, honorable judges, if you do not hear and heed these appeals and that prisoner should be taken out and lynched, the responsibility for lynching would be yours for delaying the execution of the law."

"Should the murderer of Miss Bishop be lynched? Yes, but only under one condition and that is this—if his trial shall be delayed until September and then though he be proved guilty, through some technicality of the law or any undue influence upon either judges or jury he be not given capital punishment, then the citizens of the state should arise in their might and execute the criminal and thus uphold the majesty of the law."

DIVORCES

Considered by the Court at Zanesville.
The Wife of ex-Coroner Corson Begins Suit.

Zanesville, O., June 24—Coroner O. I. Corson is made defendant in a divorce suit filed with the clerk of the courts by his wife, Mrs. Julia Corson, who was formerly Miss Julia Morton of this city.

The petition charges gross neglect of duty and habitual drunkenness.

Mrs. Corson claims further that while her husband has earned large sums of money by the practice of his profession, he has given but very little for the support of herself or child, having spent the most of it in riotous living.

Corson was elected coroner in 1897 and served two years.

In common pleas court Judge Kennedy of McConnelsville on the bench, a divorce was granted in the case of Nora Heath vs Henry A. Heath, and the maiden name of the plaintiff, Nora Turner, was restored. Her husband is employed in Toledo.

PENSION

Sought By Husband and Wife, and
This Reunited Them After 27 Years.

Springfield, O., June 24—David Kizer and wife have been reunited after a separation of 27 years. During all that time Mrs. Kizer has been making her home in this city and for the last 20 years she had mourned her husband as dead.

In 1876 Kizer went to the Black Hills to search for gold. In time his letters stopped and his wife came to the conclusion that he had been massacred by the Indians. She made application seven years ago for a pension as a widow of a soldier of the rebellion. Eight months ago Kizer made an attempt on his own behalf to get a pension, and this brought out the fact that his wife was still living. He has been legally dead for 20 years, a provision of the pension law being that when the head of a family has not been heard from for seven years he is dead from a legal standpoint.

Kizer again applied for a pension on June 7, 1903, at Deadwood, N. D., and was again refused. These applications made to the Pension Department resulted in the reuniting of husband and wife. Kizer went to Denver, where he was taken ill and admitted to a sanitarium. His wife was notified and went there to meet him, arriving yesterday. A daughter received a telegram to that effect yesterday. As soon as he recovers they will return to this city.

Took "Boxwell" and Landed Safely.

To the surprise of the superintendent and board of education the boys entered the Boxwell examination and passed easily.

Having fulfilled all the requirements of the Boxwell law, they are entitled to admission to the High school.

It is feared that hereafter scholars will not be particular whether they pass the city school examination or not and will seek admission to the High school through what appears to be an easier method.

It is claimed the Boxwell questions prepared by the State are not up to the standard of the local test.

A prominent club woman, Mrs. Danforth, of St. Joseph, Mich., tells how she was cured of falling of the womb and its accompanying pains.

"Life looks dark indeed when a woman feels that her strength is sap-ing away and she has no hopes of ever being restored. Such was my feeling a few months ago when I was advised that my poor health was caused by prolapsus or falling of the womb. The words sounded like a knell to me, I felt that my sun had set;
but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to me as an elixir of life; it restored the lost forces and built me up until my good health returned to me. For four months I took the medicine daily and each dose added health and strength.
I am so thankful for the help I obtained through its use."—Mrs.

The Kaiser has been making another speech, and it has the familiar martial sound. He would employ the sword, and quotes Frederick the Great as to substituting that blade for the pen when the latter does not produce the desired effect. But the pen generally belongs to a race of wielders and thinkers that do not write to suit monarchs, and hence the sword is their sole recourse and preference. How accustomed American readers are becoming to war talk. If it does not proceed here from the White House, it is heard by cable from Germany. The Kaiser praises his army; the President wants a big navy. The Socialists have declared in the former's empire that they want peace. Perhaps the same verdict is waiting here.

An editorial in the newspaper owned by Director of the Mint Roberts at Dubuque, Ia., is distressing the standard brethren. He tells the New York Press that has its being only by the grace of the Protective Tariff League, that the Iowa idea is not dead, but that there is an agreement to let the Dingley bill alone until after the presidential election, to satisfy Mr. Root. And Mr. Roberts does not want it confused with the McKinley reciprocity idea, for the Iowa idea is that protection shelters monopoly, and trusts can be reached by tariff cuts. If the Ohio platform can be squared with that expression, then a sixth sense and a fourth dimension are plain.

ROOSEVELTISM AND ROOTISM.

(Pittsburg Post.)

Confirmation is made of the announcement that the President has stepped the daily reports to the news correspondents of the progress of the inquiries into the postoffice department scandals, and that he will soon issue a statement eulogizing Payne and shoving all the sickening exposures back to the McKinley period. Thus the American people are to be relegated for information about their public affairs to the discretionary ideas of that "heroic young man," as Mr. Hanna thrice called him, who now occupies the White House. This policy of secrecy and defiance of the public results from the tutoring of Mr. Root, who is the past master. He has the arrogance of a Vanderbilt in consigning the public to condemnation, with less basis, as the inquiries of him are concerning matters of pertinence and popular importance.

Nobody desires divulgence of all clues not yet followed up, for in the parlance of the mysterious detective, that would defeat the ends of justice, nor is Secretary Hay called upon to confide the necessarily secret and confidential negotiations of diplomacy. But the great mass of the details in the postoffice scandals are record matters and there is a fresh discovery every day that the people have the right to know. The discretionary business is becoming burdensome. That "heroic young man" has also the "discretion" of acquainting the public with what his bureau of publicity finds out about trusts. The clause was inserted in the law so that it would find out nothing, and so that fat-frying could be done under coercion.

The threat of the indicted Machen to expose Chairman Loud, of the postoffice committee, by letters and otherwise, as a user of his position to secure improper appointments constitutes an argument against this latest development of Rootism. When a falling out occurs—but the adage is as venerable as true. This secret system has been forced to save the big fish. The people will not listen to the plea that the statute of limitations forbids punishing them. Publish the evidence, and let those involved make their own pleas. In Pennsylvania the pleading of that statute conveys its own meaning. Drawing a time limit after the McKinley period will not satisfy either. If men guiltily connected with postal manipulations some years ago are still high in favor, where will the administration of that "heroic young man" land? Let loose all the gossip and recrimination and in the final analysis the guilty will be in the pillory.

sick, and yet no judge has ever withheld a charter from a church of that denomination in the State of Pennsylvania. Why this discrimination? Is it assumed that the prayers of all Christian Scientists are ineffectual and, therefore, not needful of restraint, or had prayer only recently become unpopular in the courts?

Our legal friend, noting that his decision could mean no less than an injunction upon praying for the sick, sees to redeem himself by suggesting that if Christian Scientists desire to pray for the sick they may do so conjointly with the practice of medicine.

The gracious reminder that Christian Scientists may pray if they will use medicine at the same time is equivalent to saying, "You may swim if you will tie a millstone about your neck." Whatever of inefficacy there may be in the prayers of Christians is due to a lack of scientific sense of how prayer operates. Prayer must accord with the first commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." An important rule in Christian Science is that medicine must be set aside. Many patients have been hindered in their recovery because of unconsciously depending upon some material thing while at the same time looking to God as a means of relief.

One cannot have a sufficiently strong faith in God for divine healing while he gives power to lesser things. This is as certain and demonstrable as a mathematical rule. Our good Judge might just as well have said: "You may pray if you will use medicine." An essential part of prayer is implicit trust in God. Prayer must be consistent.

The decision in question embodies the statement, "The fundamental principle of the teaching of Mrs. Eddy is that what is termed disease has no real existence." I am sure our friend will not be offended if I correct him on this point. That disease is unreal is not a "principle" but a conclusion of Christian Science. The basic lesson of this faith is the Scriptural teaching, "God is Spirit." The minor premise of the Christian Science syllogism is expressed in the words of Jesus, "It is the Spirit that quickeneth, the flesh profiteth nothing."

The conclusion is that all discordant material conditions are therefore unreal in the sight of Supreme intelligence, whatever they may seem to mortals. The proposition is to "make God (Spirit) true, and every man (less than God's likeness) a liar," according to the teachings of the Scriptures. Isaiah said, "The darkness and the light are both alike to Thee." To God, the perfect One, there is no darkness. God is not deceived, is not dim of vision, hence He sees not the darkness which mortals behold and which in reality does not exist.

So it is with all the mists and discords of earth, including sickness. They are very real to mortals in their imperfect perception. In his mental treatment a Christian Scientist seeks to understand disease as it appears to omniscient God.

It should be remembered that in their outward deportment Christian Scientists note the laws of contagion and deport themselves accordingly notwithstanding that in their mental operations they hold firmly to the Scriptural teachings, "God is All in all."

Mrs. Eddy declares that she calls diseases by the same names which are applied by others. To assume that Christian Scientists ignore disease because they assert that in God's sight it has no power, is as unreasonable as to suppose that Christians will be careless in respect to contagious disease because they accept Jesus' teaching, "Take no thought for the body."

In respect to quarantine, they do not differ from their neighbors. It is only the practice of Christian Scientists to overcome trouble, but they diligently labor to prevent it, and on the basis of this science they avoid the unnecessary risk and extra labor incurred from mingling their sick with others.

Like the believers in medicine, they have troubles enough which come uninvited. While Christian Scientists differ from others in their understanding of the nature of disease and the cause of contagion, they none the less note that these exist in human experience, and must be grappled with and overcome, and that so long as the law of contagion remains unbroken those afflicted with contagious diseases should be isolated.

Christian Scientists do not pose as diagnosticians, and in respect to detecting contagious diseases they assume no more than the ordinary layman. Moreover, statistics prove conclusively that the apprehensions of our good Judge are not being verified by any actual experiences, since, with all the noise that has been made on this subject, it has not been shown that Christian Scientists have been responsible for the spreading of contagious diseases outside of their own families. On the contrary it is known that they have not only healed such diseases, but have succeeded in breaking up contagion itself, and thus preventing the spreading of diseases.

When we consider that contagion is greatly increased by fear and that Christian Science is the best known remedy for fear, we must conclude that the effect of Christian Science thought in any community is a very important factor in minimizing the probability and possibility of contagion.

It is natural for those who have only a speculative knowledge of Christian Science and its results to assume that a dependence upon this faith and the exclusion of medicine would be a neglect rather than a help, but Christian Scientists who have had experience first with medicine and lastly with the new method have proved conclusively to themselves that in adopting this Science they have chosen the best known remedy. Their judgment should not be set aside without due consideration.

If a court presumes to decide upon the merits of Christian Science practice, it should not depend upon mere assumption, but should admit actual testimony. The act of condemning without a trial is not true Americanism.

The granting of a charter could not possibly confer any further privileges of healing than the law already permits; neither will its refusal curtail such privileges. Individual Christian Scientists are already holding its public services and conducting every line of work common to the denomination, unmolested and under the sanction of the law.

Mr. Tesla promises to shock the earth with messages that will be felt and can be received by his coherer at its remotest confines.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

WILL SCALE SORATA.

Miss Peck's Preparations to Climb Bolivia's Mountain.

THE HIGHEST PEAK IN AMERICA.

Professor Pickering Believes the Mountain Is Twenty-Six Thousand Feet High—Sir Martin Conway Attempted to Reach Its Summit, but Failed—Famous Swiss Guide One of the Expedition.

Miss Anne S. Peck is a very little American woman of lofty ambitions. She also holds the world's record, for women at least, as a mountain climber. Not satisfied with climbing the highest mountain in North America, Mount Orizaba in Mexico, she is now going to try to scale the highest mountain in South America, Mount Sorata, says the Boston Globe.

Miss Peck arrived in Boston recently from New York and is completing arrangements for her expedition to South America, which will leave New York June 16. The expedition will consist of herself, Dr. W. G. Tipton of the University of New Mexico and two Swiss guides. One of them is the famous Antoine Maquignaz.

In a conversation with Miss Peck she said she had climbed the Matterhorn and several other mountains in Europe, Mount Orizaba, Mount Popocatepetl and Mount Toluca in Mexico, Mount Shasta in Washington, Clouds Rest in the Yosemite, and she makes the astounding statement that she crossed the Presidential range in the White mountains in one day.

The task which she has set herself this time, however, promises to eclipse all of her former efforts in mountain climbing. She proposes to scale Mount Sorata in Bolivia, which is said to be 25,000 feet above sea level, making it the highest peak on the American continent so far discovered.

Miss Peck says Professor Pickering of Harvard, who established the astronomical observatory at Arequipa, Peru, which is about 200 miles from Mount Sorata, believes the mountain to be 25,000 feet high, although the mountain has never been triangulated or measured. Sir Martin Conway, a famous English mountain climber, attempted to reach the summit of Sorata several years ago, but failed. Miss Peck feels confident that she will succeed, as the season will be more favorable when she will attempt it than when Sir Martin Conway attempted it. She will undertake it in the dry season, while he made his attempt during the wet season.

Miss Peck expects to arrive at Mollendo, a Peruvian port, by July 11. She will go by rail to Arequipa, where she will spend some days examining the Harvard observatory there and get all the information she can about Mount Sorata. She will visit El Misti, where Professor S. Q. Bailey of Concord, N. H., has established the loftiest meteorological station in the world, 10,300 feet above sea level. Here she expects to get much information in regard to weather conditions which will be of value to her. She expects to spend a week on the summit of El Misti.

She will go by rail to Lake Titicaca, which is the highest lake in the world, at an altitude of 13,000 feet. She crosses Titicaca in a steamer and then begins the journey on horseback with the camping outfit to Mount Sorata, about eighty miles north. She proposes to take some Indians, who know the country into the expedition at this point.

Of course, when the base of the mountain is reached it is probable that an altitude of 14,000 feet will already have been attained, so that will leave about 11,000 feet to climb. Miss Peck says she proposes to do about 2,000 feet a day until the snow line is reached, which is about 5,000 feet, she understands, from the summit. Each day observations and photographs will be taken by herself and Professor Tipton, who is an all round scientist.

Miss Peck will confine her attention largely to photographic work and barometric observations. She has had a special barometer made for the purpose. Professor Tipton will look after the geology, topography, fauna and flora and other things.

When the snow line is reached, a camp will be pitched and a favorable opportunity awaited to make a dash for the summit. This she hopes to accomplish in one day and return to camp. She also hopes that the mountain will not prove to be 25,000 feet high.

This last dash to the summit will of course be the feature of the ascent. Here is where the work will come in for the Swiss guides, who can run up walls like flies. The trouble in this case is that there is no former experience to go by. All is mystery about the region above the snow line. It will be something like Peary's dash for the pole, and by the way, Lieutenant Peary has advised Miss Peck to wear a fur suit during this try for the summit. Her mountain climbing costume is unique and consists of a sweater, loose trousers, knickerbockers, alpine shoes and hat. She also carries an ice pick and a rope.

Miss Peck is very confident she will succeed. She then proposes to return to Arequipa and again visit Mount Chacabani, on the slope of which is the Harvard observatory. This mountain is 20,000 feet above the sea level, and there is a tradition, Miss Peck says, that on its summit are the remains of a pygmy city. This she proposes to investigate, and if it is so she will do a little archaeological investigating among the ruins.

IS IT SUICIDE?

An Unknown Man Apparently Jumped in Front of a Moving Train at Outville and Was Ground to Pieces on Tuesday Night.

An unknown man was killed by a train a few miles west of Newark on Tuesday night, and the belief is that he committed suicide by jumping in front of a moving train.

About 10:30 o'clock on Tuesday night as Pan Handle extra west freight drawn by engine 8097 was pulling in on the side track at Outville, for the purpose of getting orders, the engineer noticed a man standing by the track, and when the train got within a few feet of the man, it is said that he deliberately stepped in front of the train and the engine and a number of cars had passed over him before the train could be stopped. The train was finally stopped and the remains were pulled out from under the cars. The cars had passed over the man, cutting him in two and his life was extinct when he was drawn from beneath the train. The man was a stranger, fairly well dressed in black clothes, and apparently about 35 years old. Papers were found on his person indicating that he was a member of the Catholic church. There was nothing, however, to show his identity. The deceased had very prominent features and was smoothly shaved. His hair was brown and thickly sprinkled with grey.

The body was viewed by Coroner C. F. Lesge, who arrived on the scene about three o'clock Wednesday morning, and was then brought to Newark and taken to William Evans' undertaking establishment, where it was prepared for interment. The body will be held for some time awaiting possible identification.

"I do not think I am morally, legally or technically guilty of the crime of which I stand convicted, but because of too many irons in the fire and the desperate struggle of enemies and alleged friends to shield others guilty of the offense, I was sacrificed."

"Some day all will be explained." Thomas E. Steele, in an interview given out yesterday in Toronto, Canada, made the above statements regarding his opinion of the land where he was born and for which former generations of his family have fought and died.

Since he left Columbus some months ago under the cloud of blackmailing charge, Mr. Steele has decided to take the oath of allegiance to King Edward at his earliest opportunity and depart for England.

Bloomington, Ind., June 24—Mrs. Ida Owens, on her way to Bloomington to get a divorce from her insane husband and to marry Edgar Norman, was probably fatally injured in a runaway southeast of Bloomington last Tuesday. Mrs. Owens, her mother, and a six year old son of Mrs. Owens, were in the buggy. The horse became frightened, ran away and overturned the buggy. All three were dragged a considerable distance.

KANSAS LEGISLATURE MEETS.

Topeka, Kansas, June 24—The legislature of Kansas convened in extraordinary session today to pass laws necessary to enable the counties and municipalities to meet the emergencies caused by the recent floods in destroying bridges. Governor Bailey's message expresses the hope that the opportunity will not be seized to pass general legislation. A movement for an appropriation by the legislature for the flood sufferers has many advocates in view of the appeal by Kansas to the country at large for aid.

FLOODS AND IRRIGATION.

Plan to Prevent the Former and Aid the Latter.

The floods that have been devastating large sections of the west and southwest have engaged the attention of government officials at Washington who are in charge of the reclamation policy authorized by the recent irrigation law passed by congress, says the New York Times. It is likely that the scope of the irrigation policy of the government will include the purpose to prevent if possible the recurrence of floods in the Missouri and Mississippi valleys. Storage reservoirs not only at the head waters of the large streams, but lower down, where extensive areas of rain drainage continually swell the flood of water volume in the rivers, have been suggested as a means that would be effective.

"A feature of this flood storage," said Guy Mitchell, secretary of the National Irrigation association, recently, "which would undoubtedly accomplish the desired result may be termed 'secondary storage.' The storage proposition applied to the Missouri and its great tributaries involves the question of the irrigation of the vast arid domain through which these rivers flow. Reservoirs, it is estimated, would reclaim as much as 35,000,000 acres of present desert land. The principal season of growing crops for this area would be April, May, June, July and August, and the reason the lands are not irrigated at present is that, while there is plenty of water in the first three months, during July and August, when water is absolutely necessary to mature the crops, these streams are mere threads. By means of canals and ditches almost incalculable quantities of the flood waters coming down during April, May and June, which cannot be stored in the reservoirs, would be taken out of the rivers and spread on this land, which would take it up like a sponge."

"Under such a system of irrigation the effect would be the same as though it had been possible the other week to spread out the great flood of the Missouri, the Arkansas and the Platte and irrigate millions of acres of farming land in Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, thus reducing the flow of the lower reaches of the Missouri to below the danger point."

"The combined volume of the water impounded in storage reservoirs at the head waters of these great rivers and their tributaries and that contained in a network of hundreds of miles of irrigation canals and ditches, coupled with that absorbed by millions of acres of arid land, would have gone a long way toward preventing what will be known as the great flood of 1903."

HONORS FOR A FARM LAD.
Professors Call Frederick Pierce Yale's Brightest Student.
Frederick Erasmus Pierce, who is one of the most remarkable students who ever attended Yale and one of the most talked of men on the campus today, attracted attention of a different sort when he entered college three years ago, says a New Haven special to the New York World. He had then just come from his father's farm, near South Britain, Conn. Toiling behind the plow and in the fields had not developed grace of carriage. He was sunburned, and his clothes were ill fitting. The students regarded him with good natured amusement.

He had just stepped up in a handkerchief when he arrived on the campus. He did odd jobs to support himself and studied all the time he wasn't working. It did not take long for his fellow students to learn that Pierce was an exceptionally bright fellow. In his freshman year he captured three prizes and the Woolsey scholarship, the income from $1,000, for the best examination in Latin composition. In his sophomore year and the present day he made a record probably never before surpassed at the university. In the opinion of many Yale professors he is the brightest man Yale has ever had. He was "slapped" for Skull and Bones a few days ago.

Reason of Too Frequent Calls Explained.

F. D. Hall Says the Collapse is Due to the Stomach.

"There goes that ambulance again," said a member of the firm of F. D. Hall to a reporter who had dropped in at his store to make some inquiries. "Yes, I see it go by pretty often myself in my business," said the newspaper man.

"It seems as though more people need looking after every day. But it is entirely their own fault," responded the druggist.

"I suppose you mean," said the reporter, "that men and women are more careful about walking under buildings in construction, dodging electric cars, and such like?"

"Not at all," said the druggist, "I refer to the cause of most cases of collapse which keeps our ambulances on the jump all day long. Any number of people are daily brought into our stores who have lost consciousness on the street—women who have fainted, men who are suddenly attacked by vertigo and become helpless, and the pity of it all is that these troubles can be avoided by such a little care."

"It is this way," said a member of the firm of F. D. Hall, "People neglect their stomachs. They go about suffering from dizziness and susceptibility to fainting, and all kinds of mean feelings, often without realizing the reason, simple indigestion or dyspepsia. It is not necessary for a man to suffer from a genuine stomach ache to be sure he has some stomach trouble. Symptoms of disordered stomachs are often found elsewhere, in such conditions as I have described."

"If people, besides using ordinary discretion in what they eat, and the manner they live, would understand the merits of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, such ills as I have mentioned, as well as hundreds of others, would cease to exist."

"The stomach is responsible for 90 per cent of the ills to which flesh is heir, and there is nothing in this world that can keep the stomach healthy and strong, enable it to digest to food which is taken into it, and get the benefit of that food, like Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets."

"I know what I am talking about when I get on this subject and I cannot help being enthusiastic. These tablets are scientifically prepared, and from a prescription that I do not believe has an equal as a stomach regulator and strengthener as well as a digestive promoter. So positive am I of the good that can be done by this remedy that we are staking our reputation on what it will do, and we will gladly refund the cost of the remedy to any one who is not satisfied with the results obtained by the use of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets."

We sell them for 25 cents a box, and know that every time we sell a box we have made a friend, both for ourselves and Rexall, for life.

IN PICNIC TIME.

WHEN days are long
And heat grows strong
We catch the picnic fever,
And plans we lay
To spend a day
Where joy is care's reliever.

By train or boat
We rush or float
To some far destination
And feast our eyes
In glad surprise
On miles of vegetation.

The picnic ground
At last is found
Then with the grub we're trudging
To distant tree
We chanced to see—
A mile, at least, we're judging.

But brief is rest.
For there's request
From bulky maid or matron
Who wants to swing.
And suffering
That means for pushing patron.

When tucked out
By such a bout
A stroll succeeds the swinging;
A hornet's nest
Wings interest,
And then, gee whizz, such stinging!

When dinner's spread
A cloud overhead
Lets loose, and fierce is wetting
That young and old
And meek and bold
With promptness then are getting.

Still other woes
Sweep down on those
Who catch the picnic fever
Till in dismay
They sadly say
That hope's a base deceiver.

THE RAILWAYS

CHICAGO MEN SEE BENEFIT IN MERGER OF UNIONS.

A Wabash Victory—Work Commenced. Fast Freight Service—Master Carpenter Killed.

Chicago, Ill., June 24—Railway employees here are watching with interest the movement to consolidate into one huge union all the railway workers of the country. For three days secret meetings have gone on at Erie, Penn., with this object in view. If it is successful the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen, the Order of Railway Conductors and the Order of Railway Trainmen will all unite, making one of the strongest labor combinations in the world.

Any action taken will extend to all parts of the country, and the joint organization will be powerful not only from point of members, but from point of financial backing.

The step is looked upon as an effort to use the same tactics as those adopted by the railroad corporations during the past few years. The consolidations and mergers among railroad companies have been of great advantage to railway managers in treating with employees, and unions figure out that a combination of the different classes of employees will place them in a position to benefit themselves more than ever before.

It is understood that the purpose is not to ask unfair concessions from the railroads, but simply as a means of strengthening the railway labor unions and leading up to a common understanding with all railroads or corporations regarding the wage question.

A Wabash Victory.

Steuensville, O., June 24—The Wabash railroad has won a notable victory in the Probate Court here over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad.

It was seeking to appropriate four strips of ground off the latter for railroad purposes. The cases were decided by Judge Kerr in favor of the Wabash. It was the first case of the kind in Ohio.

Sewer pipe officials who testified in the case say they could not fill orders for thousands of cars of pipe because the C. & P. would not furnish the cars. The Wabash extension up the river is now assured.

Work Commenced

New York, June 24—Pennsylvania railroad axmen have begun to demolish buildings on $7,500,000 worth of property. The work will not stop until nearly four entire city blocks have been cleared. The wreckers will tear down 400 buildings, including three churches, a hospital and a home for boys.

The blocks to be razed are bounded by Seventh and Ninth avenues, Thirtieth and Thirty-third streets. They are the site of the projected railroad tunnel station and the new uptown postoffice.

NEW FASHION

Set by the Mother Who Gave the Kentucky Bride Away to a Knickerbocker.

New York, June 24—A new fashion was inaugurated yesterday at the marriage of Mrs. Louise Fontaine Venable to Wright Barclay, which took place at 3 o'clock in the chapel of the Church of the Transfiguration.

It was in the matter of giving the bride away, which was done by her mother, Mrs. Edward Moore Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell occupied the front pew on the bride's side of the chapel, and when Rev. Dr. George Clark Houghton the rector asked, "Who giveth this woman to be married?" Mrs. Mitchell nodded her head without leaving her seat to signify that she did. The ceremony then proceeded in the usual way.

The bride, who is an attractive woman, is the daughter of the late Edward Mitchell, of Louisville, Ky., and was the wife of Nathaniel E. Venable, of Petersburg, Va.

On her father's side she comes from an old colonial family and is a descendant of Richard Borden, of Rhode Island. Her mother, who was a Miss Prather, of Louisville, belongs to an old Kentucky family. Mr. Barclay comes of a Knickerbocker family.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA. ITS CAUSE AND CURE.

Overwork any organ and it gives out—the stomach is no exception. Ask it to digest anything, everything, at any time in half the time required, and like an over driven horse, it balks. Nature intended the stomach should have regular hours. A time to work, a time to rest—and when you break up this habit you upset the whole arrangement. The stomach nerves become exhausted, the glands refuse to act, the food does not digest—lies heavy, ferments and repeats. There is pain, gas forms, bloating occurs, the heart becomes irregular and a nervous, irritable feeling sets in. This is nervous dyspepsia and Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills its cure.

Mrs. S. T. Weakley of No. 119 South Fifth street, Newark, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are all right. My digestion was weak, food did not digest and distressed after eating. This made me nervous and dull. I was told the Nerve Pills would cure this and they did. The digestion, stomach and nerves are strong again and I am glad I got the medicine at Bricker's City Drug store." 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. ## Long Suicide Rout.

New York, June 24—Archibald Morrison, a silk salesman, committed suicide in a novel way from the Brooklyn bridge.

He climbed the platform railing south of the Brooklyn tower, jumped on top of a train bound for Brooklyn, fell off the last car, struck the third rail was flung across the track, fell through the ties, and landed on Front street, more than 100 feet below, a mangled corpse.

As Morrison jumped part of the car ran under a bar crossing the trestle work and he was hit by it. It swept him off the car, landing him on the third rail.

He was probably dead before he fell to the street.

HAPPY REUNION

Of Father and Son Who Had Not Seen Each Other Since the Birth of the Latter Twenty-Three Years Ago.

A happy reunion of a father and son who had not seen each other since the birth of the latter, 23 years ago, took place Wednesday amid circumstances that were altogether felicitous.

Twenty-three years ago the 8th of last March a baby boy was born in the home of Andy Rice, who is now a laborer well known about Newark. An hour after the birth of the little fellow the mother died, and soon afterward the baby was taken by the dead mother's sister, Mrs. John Sherman, to her country home near Darby Plains, Union county, Ohio. Here the child grew to boyhood and strong self-reliant young manhood, knowing all the time of the story of his birth and adoption by his aunt, although no legal steps were taken and the lad was given the name of Christopher Rice.

The young man worked about his uncle's farm and for the past two years has been an employee of the T. & O. C. railroad, in both capacities being honest, capable and conscientious.

Recently he married the girl of his choice, and decided to come to Newark and hunt up his father, whom he had never seen, and also his brothers and sisters, whom he knew almost nothing about.

He arrived in Newark about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, and was directed to the home of his brother, John Rice, 95 Valley street, where he and his wife were made welcome by Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kauffman, who also occupy the double house, until his brother and wife returned. The reunion of the brothers was sincere and affecting, as neither had ever consciously beheld the other.

The missing links in the chain of family history were supplied by Mrs. Kauffman, who was the second wife of Andy Rice, and secured a divorce from him about two years ago.

The father of the young man was notified of his son's arrival in Newark, and he gave his new found child a warm and affectionate welcome.

Christopher is the youngest of five children, having two brothers, John and Andrew of Newark, one sister living in Columbus, and one sister living in Elmwood, Ohio.

Mr. Rice will attempt to secure work and if he is successful will locate in Newark.

ARMED

With Guns and a Lot of Whisky, the Ex-Convict Swears He Will Not be Taken Alive.

Logansport, Ind., June 24—Officers from this city, Peru and Bunker Hill have joined in the search for William Herrell, the ex-convict and outlaw who terrorized Bunker Hill and vicinity. Reports first came here late in the night, and two Pan Handle detectives were sent, the road officials taking part because Herrell had fired several shots through the windows of a passenger car. One bullet tore a hole in a man's hat. All day the search continued the posse getting an occasional glimpse of the outlaw and firing upon him, but the distance proved too great.

John Shively, a man who was instrumental in sending Herrell to the penitentiary, met the outlaw face to face. Herrell promptly sent a bullet at Shively, but owing to the nearness of the posse the aim was wild and Shively escaped. It is thought that as soon as Herrell's whisky runs out he will surrender.

Herrell, who is fully armed, has sworn that he will not be taken alive. The posse is closing in on a clump of woods and will shoot Herrell if they get within range.

Monday Herrell amused himself by shooting at traveling men in the Lake Erie depot at Bunker Hill. Then he visited a saloon and shot out the mirrors. On the way home he shot at everybody in sight.

Louisville, Ky., June 24—Laura Humphrey, who was shot by another negro woman on the steamer Sunshine Sunday, is dead.

SWEPT

Two Hundred Feet Trough a Sewer, Was a Little Girl, Who Was Rescued Unhurt.

Monongahela, Pa., June 24—As Joseph Gladden, a carpenter, was watching the great volume of water pouring out of the sewer that empties into the Monongahela river, he saw the form of a little girl shoot from the opening. He ran to the spot and rescued the child before she was carried out by the current.

The little one proved to be the daughter of William Gabrisik, 6 years old. She had been playing along a small stream that runs into the sewer. The stream was swollen by the rain. The child was caught by the rust of water and swept into the sewer, through which she was borne 200 feet. After the child recovered from the shock and fright she was found to be unhurt.

Like an Ox.

Chicago, Ill., June 24—A Kokomo, (Ind.) dispatch says: Dr. Edward Stanton, an eccentric character, who for 20 years has labored under the delusion that he has been transformed into an ox, died yesterday from eating poisoned grass. He was 80 years old.

He was jilted in his youth, and since then he thought he was reincarnated into an ox. He was constantly in the field grazing with the cattle, and refused to associate with humans when it could be avoided.

MISS FAY LEE,

President of the Shakespearean Club, Kansas City.

"Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache, backache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical, and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words fail to express my gratitude for the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'thank you', but there is much more in my heart for you."

Miss Fay Lee.

nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You perhaps jump at any unusual disturbance, or laugh or weep hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, 603 1/2 North Seventh Street, Kansas City, Kansas, was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million other women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system is relieved of the terrible wasting drains. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its normal position. Returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done for thousands of the best women in America.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day.

SELECTIONS

INDIAN SOD HOUSES.

Wichitas the Only Tribe That Understands Building Them.

The finest house ever designed by a redskin is the sod house of the Wichitas, who at present live in southern Oklahoma. They are the only Indians that ever accomplished successfully the erection of a sod structure. Soon they are to abandon these huts and take up their nomadic reservation life in two room frame shacks which the government is building for them. There are only about fifty old men of the tribe alive today who understand the art of building one of these houses so that it will stand.

The government has offered these sod house builders lucrative employment to construct some houses that may be preserved as models of an ancient art, but they refuse, and the huts that used to dot the prairies of the Wichitas reservation are now being torn down. The Wichitas are determined that their huts shall not survive them, says the Scientific American.

One can look upon a sod house and fancy it an easy thing to build. But it is not. It is, indeed, most intricate. The turf is gathered early in the spring when it is yet fresh. The sod cutting usually takes place immediately after a rain, and the sod is removed to a thickness of about eight inches. Buffalo grass sod is the only kind that will answer the purpose of the builder. He begins to lay the foundation as does the stonemason, digging away the earth to the depth of about one foot. The grass portion of the chunks of sod is laid to the outside, and the house is built to a height of twelve or fifteen feet in the form of a pointed dome. There is no hole in the top for smoke to pass out. The smoke is carried away through a pipe on the outside of the hut. The door is usually in the south, and there are no windows.

Through each tuft of sod is run a willow wand, and these wands are bound clear round the structure. The grass remains green and will grow if there is plenty of rain. It is not at all uncommon to see the sides of a sod house turn green as spring approaches, just as do the pastures near it. The houses are warm in winter and cool in summer. They never leak. Often the Indians have barns made of the same material. But now the redskins are made to live in frame shacks, and the once famous "grass" house will soon be but a recollection.

Missteps of a Walker.

E. E. Broad, who won the Stock Exchange walk that gave London something of interest and no great importance to talk about the other week, had never walked fifty miles before at a stretch. When he neared the winning post a zealous policeman took him by the shoulder and shoved him back into the crowd, with the injunction to make way for the winner. But his worst misadventure befell him the day afterward, when a report had gained currency that he, with several of his competitors, had succumbed to his exertions. His baggage happened to have been sent to the wrong hotel. After a good sleep he took at the conclusion of the race, a nap something like a day and a half, he set out in search of his baggage and found he would have to be identified. "Oh, no," said the hotel people, "you can't be Mr. Broad. He's dead. We have it on the best authority."

The Sudan.

The Egyptian Gazette says that, while the Sudan will take several years more to develop, there are practically no limits to the possibilities for outside capital which the recovered provinces afford. With great tracts of fertile soil now producing little but jungle and with a water supply only needing scientific storage and distribution to fulfill all requirements, there is no reason why the Sudan should not become one of the world's greatest granaries. "All of these and other treasures are placed at the disposal of humanity at large by the extermination of the derelicts, and British enterprise must have lamentably deteriorated if it hangs back in the competition to cater for the wants of 25,000,000 people."

No Hope For Cuban Cotton.

The appearance of the boll weevil in Cuba is regarded by experts as putting at an end for good whatever hope there may once have been of raising cotton on that island. In Texas the fight against the boll weevil is a hard one, but in Cuba it would be hopeless. In Texas the cold weather checks their spread every year and thus allows the cotton growers to keep them in check. In Cuba, where there is no cold weather, the weevil would flourish the year round. It is recalled that a hundred years ago the cotton industry of Cuba was destroyed beyond all hope by this same insect.—Kansas City Journal.

GOOD BLOOD SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

You know when rich, red blood is coursing through the veins, for it shows in the brightness of the eye, the beauty and clearness of the complexion, the smooth, fair skin, and robust, healthy constitution. It is good blood that imparts strength and energy to the body and keeps it in a state of healthfulness and vigor. Good blood is the foundation of good health, and to be physically and mentally sound it must be kept pure and untainted.

People with good blood possess strong, steady nerves and are blest with good appetites and digestion, and enjoy sound, refreshing sleep. If we could always maintain the purity of the blood then we might enjoy perpetual health, but it becomes infected and poisoned and most of the ills that afflict humanity and undermine the constitution are caused by an impoverished or polluted condition of this vital fluid.

When the blood is diseased the skin loses its healthy appearance, and the complexion, its freshness and beauty and becomes red and rough and full of pimples and blotches. Itching, scaly eruptions, blackheads, boils and rashes break out upon the body when the blood is too poor or too thin and acid, and is not supplying proper nourishment to the system. Debility, poor appetite, bad digestion, restless sleep and nervousness more often come from sluggish, impure blood than any other cause. To build up the blood, restore its lost properties and make it rich and nutritious again is the only rational treatment, and the proper way to get rid of skin troubles. There is no remedy like S. S. S. to accomplish this and it does it promptly and thoroughly. S. S. S. antidotes and removes from the blood all poisons and humors, and restores it to a normal, healthy condition, and invigorates and tones up the general health. When rich, red blood is again flowing through your veins all skin eruptions disappear, the appetite improves, the complexion clears and you get rid of those miserable depressing feelings and nervousness, and enjoy once more the blessings of good health. S. S. S. is nature's remedy for all blood and skin diseases. It contains no minerals whatever, but is guaranteed purely vegetable.

What a Toad Enjoys.

There are few things more amusing than to watch a toad submitting to the operation of a back scratching. He will at first look somewhat suspicious at the twig which you are advancing toward him. But after two or three passes down his back his manner undergoes a marked change, his eyes close with an expression of infinite rapture, he plants his feet wider apart and his body swells out to nearly double its ordinary size, as if to obtain by these means more room for enjoyment. Thus he will remain until you make some sudden movement which startles him, or until he has had as much petting as he wants, when, with a puff of regretful delight, he will reduce himself to his usual dimensions and hop away, bent once more on the pleasures of the chase.

Urbana will be here for a series of three games beginning Friday and these will be as important as any game to be played at Idlewild park this season. The Urbana team is a fast hard hitting aggregation and the Newark pitchers will have their work cut out for them to hold the Champlain county champions. They have beaten the best in Ohio and no team in the state can give them anything and a beating.

The local boys will have to be up on their toes from the command to "play ball" until the last man is down in every game.

These games are to be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and should draw good crowds.

SUMMER SMILES.

Bad Sign.
"Ma powers are failin'!" means the famous writer of Scotch dialect stories.

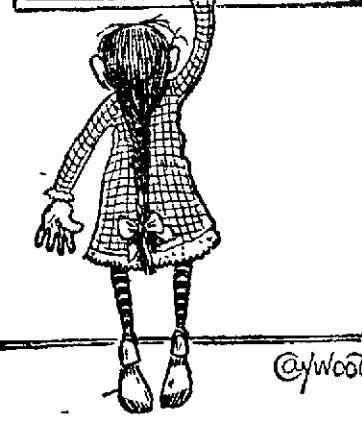

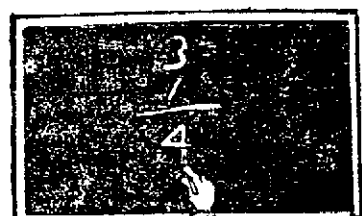

"Hoot, laddie," says his friend in cheerful tones, "ye're aye muckle better than ane weel end expect frae ye."

"I dinna ken," sighs the author, albeit he brightens somewhat at the kindly words. "I dinna ken. 'Twas but the day I writ soon decaet whilk I somelike felt I onnestood mae!"

Shaking his head dourly, he endeavors to devise a new way to misspell things.—Judge.

Learned His Lesson.
One more about those queer little human specimens. It had been explained to the son and heir the impossibility of his father buying a "real" locomotive or a "genuine" war ship for him, primarily because of the expense. That evening they had guests to dine, and a small voice asked meekly:
"Could I have a piece of bread, please, if it's not too expensive?"—New York Times.

A Miss Calculation.

—New York Times.

Confused.
"Did you say a chicken chews its food with its gizzard?" asked the little boy with the high forehead.
"Yes; that is practically the process."
"If that is the case," he queried sweetly, "how can a chicken tell whether it has the toothache or the stomach ache?"—Washington Star.

Explained.
Mrs. Hauskeep—You said the job would cost $18. Here you've sent a bill for $14.
Painter—Yes'm. You see, I got to thinkin' it over afterward and I thought maybe you'd be superstitious about it.

Unprejudiced Evidence.
Conny—I want your advice about matrimony.
Dunny—But I've never been married.
Conny—That's why I want your advice.—Chelsea Gazette.

This Language of Ours.
Naggsby—You look as if you were all knocked out.
Waggsby—That's right. I'm all in.—Baltimore American.

The Summer Girl.
She's spoken of in admiration; She's criticized through every nation; No other subject is discussed With so much favor and distrust Throughout the world, in every clime, As this, the queen of summer time, Fair creature of the bounce and curl, The summer girl.

Some writers scornfully assert She's nothing but a heartless flirt; Our "funny men" all find in her A joke unfailing, as it were.
While others, favorably inclined, Say she's the gem of maidenkind, A jewel among her sex, a pearl, The summer girl.

But through it all she stands alone And calmly manages her own. Regardless both of praise or blame, Remaining always just the same, Excepting that each year she's more Bewitching than the year before.
Keeping men's brains and hearts awhirl, The summer girl.
—Theodore Keith in Chicago Record-Herald.

There are nearly 270 different religions in the United Kingdom.

Half-Sick If you feel run down, are easily tired, if your nerves are weak and your blood is thin, then begin to take the good old standard family medicine, Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If constipated, use Ayer's Pills.

Was Not the Only Daughter of a Revolutionary Soldier in Ohio—There is One More.

Upper Sandusky, O., June 21.—The report from Newark that Mrs. Hannah Follett Clarke, who died near Canton Monday, was the only remaining daughter of a Revolutionary soldier, is incorrect, but since the death of Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Johan Gump, of this place, is thought to be the only remaining daughter. Her father, Elijah Eggleston, enlisted in April, 1776, and served two years and three months. Mrs. Gump is 84 years old, and was recently presented with a gold spoon by the National Society.

FAMILY REUNION.

Thursday, June 18, was the day decided upon for holding the Shaw family reunion. The day was all that could be desired. The weather was cool and pleasant and made the drive to the Miller residence a pleasant one. The forenoon was spent in social conversation. About noon, a bountiful dinner was served, three tables being arranged in the shade on the lawn.

Dinner being over vocal and instrumental music was rendered, after which a few choice recitations were given by the grandchildren. Next came a ball game and other sports on the lawn.

As father and mother sat on the porch and watched the merry games of the children it surely brought to memory scenes of their younger days.

when their own little ones were playing around their door. But age has brought the silver hairs and the feeble steps, father being in his 75th year and mother in her 77th.

There were four generations present. While all those assembled seemed so cheerful and happy our thoughts and sympathy went out to one who has been mingling with us at our family gatherings, but owing to failing health could not be with us on this occasion. We missed him.

It was decided that a reunion be held next year, but the time and place will be decided upon later.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Miller entertained in their pleasant country home two miles south of Alexandria, in a delightful manner, Mrs. Miller being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Show.

They left at noon for a trip in the east and upon returning will be at home in Granville.

AMUSEMENTS.

The park was too wet last night for pleasure seekers but the casino at Idlewild was well filled with a happy and well pleased audience who went out to see the performance. The Piccolo Midgets are a feature that can seldom be witnessed at any money and the entire bill this week, beginning with the donkeys and closing with these famous Lilliputians has not one dull moment in it.

Manager Harris is making great preparations for a celebration of the Glorious Fourth that will eclipse anything of the kind ever given in our midst. It is to be on the order of the Mardi Gras festivities of New Orleans, and many new and novel features are being arranged for.

Next week's bill at the casino promises to be an extra strong one and a ball game is scheduled for the Fourth between the Columbus Unions and the Idlewild boys that Manager Driscoll says is to be one of the hottest of the season.
